WET TRACK STOPS THE RACES
 Governor Morehead and Other Nebraskans Deliver Speeches—Fair Food Department Has Interesting Exhibits.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Sept. 7.—(Special.)—The flight of Lincoln Beachy was the principal attraction at the state fair today, the rain this morning putting the race track in such a shape that the races had to be postponed.
 Beachy made a most spectacular ascent and while he did not loop the loop or fly up-side down in his initial flight he flew so high that for a minute or so he was lost to sight behind the clouds which hung over the fair grounds. While high in the air it began to rain and he was compelled to alight, making a shoot for the ground at an angle of about fifty degrees.
 The fair opened with a dedication of the new agricultural building. President Roberts of the fair association presiding and delivering a short address. He was followed by E. M. Pollard on behalf of the horticultural society and by Secretary Moller of the state fair. Governor Morehead was the principal speaker and told of the great things which the people of the state could expect from the society. Superintendent William James, superintendent of the new building closed the speech making.

On account of its rain very little of the original program could be carried out. The flight of Beachy and the musical program by Conway's band being the main features. Conway's band, in the estimation of many is the best which has ever been heard at the fair for some years. Laura Gooch's mixed quartet has caught the crowds with their selections, their singing being in English instead of Italian as in former years.
Indian Village Drawing.
 An attraction which is drawing crowds is the Indian village. Four of five large families composed of dad and ma with their several sons-in-law and daughters-in-law make up a camp of about thirty or forty people. One family has the distinction of having a pair of nice chubby fat twin babies about 3 months old which are a source of great curiosity to the white mothers who crowd the village. In the lot are four chiefs, Running Hawk, Iron Bull, Lone Wolf and Blue Deer. The tribe is in charge of Alex Merrill, an interpreter. The tribe is from the Pine Ridge agency.

Old agricultural hall is another place visited by the crowds. The building is the headquarters of the state pure food department, which has on display everything connected with the work of the department and is in charge of Food Commissioner Harman, with a corps of four inspectors who look after the sanitary conditions about the grounds. In this building there are several exhibits, one of especial interest being the exhibit from the state agricultural farm dairy department.
Production of Cream.
 This exhibit covers the proposition of the production of milk and cream from the time the cow is a calf to the time the butter is produced. A pen containing four high grade calves comes first, then follows another pen in which there are five of the best cows owned by the state farm, beginning with LaMay, the Holstein cow which leads all other states in the production of milk and butter, the record of the different cows being as follows:
 LaMay, a Holstein, 26,000 pounds of milk and 967 pounds of butter in one year.
 Lady Lincoln, an Ayrshire, produced 14,745 pounds of milk and 621 pounds of butter.
 Carretta, a Guernsey, produced 1,604 pounds of milk and 431 pounds of butter.
 Nebraska Girl, a Jersey, produced 7,450 pounds of milk and 792 pounds of butter.
 Roan Florence, produced 2,970 pounds of milk and 100 pounds of butter. This cow just about paid for its keeping.

There is no attempt to show that one breed is better than another, but shows what the best cow of each breed owned by the farm produces.
Milking by Machinery.
 During the day the milking process by machinery is gone through and the methods shown from the time it leaves the cow until it is made into butter, the crowning victory being the large life-size production in butter of Dean Burnett of the state farm driving a team of horses hitched to a plow. The sculptor responsible for the work is J. E. Wallace of Lincoln, and the display is due to the efforts of the Nebraska dairy and cream association, which put in the display at a cost of about $1,000. About 1,500 pounds of butter is used in the exhibit.
 Races which had to be postponed this afternoon on account of the condition of the track will be sandwiched in with the other speed events, making the balance of the week an especially good program.
 Many of the departments at the state house are represented, the veterinary department, stallion registration board, game warden's office and several others being in evidence.

Bureau Will Give Advice to Parents
WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—As the result of appeals for advice on the care and training of their children received during the last year from thousands of mothers throughout the United States, especially in remote rural districts, the bureau of education announced that it has established a home education division.
 The objects of the bureau are "to help parents in the home education of their children with reference to health, games and play, early mental development and formation of moral habits; to interest boys and girls who have left school and are still at home by directing their home-reading and study and to further the education of the parents in the home."

Troops Will Stay in Colorado Field

IMPROVE RIVER, SAYS T. R.
Declares Democrats Should Use Money, Not Pay Big Blackmail.
DEMOCRATS FAIL ON PROMISES
 With Treats They Have Policy of Fleeing So as to Hit it if it is a Bear and to Miss it if it is a Bull.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt delivered a public address in the opera house here tonight, in which he urged that "this government, instead of paying the $25,000,000 blackmail to alien wrong-doers and their heirs," as proposed in the dispute with Colombia over the Panama canal property, should use that $25,000,000 and the plant of the Panama canal, and as many scores of millions extra as are necessary, to take control of the Mississippi and to develop all its possibilities of usefulness from the headwaters to the delta."
 Colonel Roosevelt made a particular point of the Mississippi flood problem, which he said must be met not only by levees, but great storage reservoirs upstream, which would not only stop the floods but serve well for irrigation purposes. He reminded his hearers that he had been an advocate of federal control of the river for a long time. "I insisted upon it when I was president," he said. "But neither of the old parties adopted it. It is only the progressive party that has seen the need of such a far-reaching constructive policy."
 He spoke warmly of the progressives in Louisiana. There were no other members of the party? he said, who more emphatically deserved well of the party than the progressives of Louisiana. He spoke of the old republican party as having a "deliberate purpose to become the bulwark of Bourbon autocracy to advance throughout the nation," and said the democrats were "wedded to outworn principles of government, and dead and buried economic theories."
 The day was Labor day, which led him to discuss the industrial and economic situation. "Both the old parties are wedded to their idols. The republican party by every action it has taken during the last two years has made it evident that it intends to see that the rank and file are shackled and are put under the control of the great bosses of the stamp of Mr. Barnes and Mr. Penrose. On the other hand, the democratic party which has possessed absolute power in Washington for the last two years has shown not the faintest symptom of a real understanding of the needs of the people. It has done nothing whatever for labor, and its action on the trusts and the tariff have shown that it is not fit to run the government. With the trusts they have adopted the policy of firing 'so as to hit it if it is a bear and to miss it if it is a bull.'"
 He told his audience that the people of Louisiana were among those hardest hit by "the backward and reactionary policy" the government had adopted as regards the tariff. He asserted that the promise to break up the trusts and reduce the cost of living had not been realized. He took up in detail the matter of sugar with which Louisiana is closely identified. The removal of duty on the commodity, he said, had been a big contributing cause to the present high prices for sugar, not only seriously affecting the sugar industry but causing damage upon the whole public.
 "Germany's great economic developing during the forty-three years preceding this lamentable war," he said had been due largely to the intelligent use of a tariff commission.
 He pointed to the disturbed business conditions in this country today, which emphasized the need of a government commission with power to tell business men from the beginning what was right for them to do, and what was wrong.

OPPORTUNITY FOR AMERICA
Gompers Points Out Service to Be Performed by United States.
THIS NATION ALONE AT PEACE
 Labor Federation Head Speaks of Great Struggle Occurring at Time When All Precede and Desire Peace.

PLATTSBROUGH, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address in connection with Labor day ceremonies here, pointed out the opportunities of American commerce and American workers to be derived from the chaotic conditions of all lines of commerce in Europe incident to the war. Referring to the celebration of the anniversary of a hundred years of peace between the United States and Great Britain, Mr. Gompers said: "By some strange chance of fortune when the time for this celebration was near, when men's thoughts were of peace and the ways of peace, the countries of the western civilization are suddenly plunged into a titanic struggle, a stupendous one that the human lives are being spent with mad extravagance."
 "In this colossal horror that has befallen the peoples of England, the eyes and the hopes of all turn to America for sustaining aid. Our fervent desire is that it may prove itself worthy of the great service that lies ahead of it."
 "While all the other great countries have halted the normal interests of life, America alone maintains its wonted peace and friendliness toward all mankind. America is to become the clearing house for all international intercourse. It has the opportunity to become the world's banker. Its great power and influence are moral. When that power and influence shall be used as befits a great and a free people will determine its future greatness. May it prove to the world that there is such a thing as international morality, and may it help the warring nations back to a plane of peace and justice, is the earnest desire of America's workers and all their champions."

Termonde Falls After Six Hours of Hard Fighting
LONDON, Sept. 7.—The correspondent of the Express, writing from Termonde, sixteen miles from Ghent, under date of Saturday, says:
 "Termonde has fallen after six hours of fighting. The little force of 6,000 Belgians made a gallant defense, but the enemy was 20,000 strong, and the Belgians were unable to reply effectively to the deadly fire of the German siege guns."
 "The Germans began the attack between 2 and 3 o'clock Saturday morning and the rain of shells over the town was incessant until 8. It was a hopeless task, against such odds, and one by one the slender defenses were abandoned."
 "The defenders were able to leave in good order, without serious losses, and went by way of Berlaer and Overmeire in the direction of Ghent."
 "After entering the town, the Germans set it afire, and throughout the morning dense clouds of smoke overhung the town. Not three miles away the peasants, with strange and dull apathy, were still working in their gardens, sometimes turning to watch the smoke. Only the children seem afraid and they ran and hid from my motor car."
 "I sighted German outposts from Termonde to within ten miles of Ghent, and there are indications that they will almost immediately occupy Ghent. The people are greatly excited and many are preparing for flight."
 "Between Ghent and Bruges there is little sign of the conflict and men and women are working quietly in the fields. At one village four men were calmly building a wayside chapel. As I passed they were putting in place an image of the Virgin Mary. Bruges is perfectly calm, but it is the calm of despair, not of confidence."
 "Telegraphing from Ostend, a correspondent of Reuter's Telegraph company says that the German casualties in the fighting around Termonde on Friday and Saturday are estimated at 5,000 men. A number of German soldiers were drowned when the dykes around Termonde were cut and several guns were lost in the flood."

Austrians Deny Defeat by Servians
THE HAGUE, Sept. 6.—(Via London, 4 a. m., Sept. 7.)—The Austrian legation last night issued the following statement: "Reports from Russian sources that Lemberg, Galicia, has been taken by the Russians after a desperate fight for possession of the city are untrue. In reality Lemberg, which was not fortified, was abandoned to the Russian troops without fighting for tactical and humane reasons."
 General Von Auffenberg, in a statement received at the legation here says he is following up his success at Zamosc and that General Dank continues his attack in the direction of Lublin. The legation also contradicts a dispatch of last Saturday according to which two Czech regiments had mutinied claiming that at the present time there are no Czech troops in Vienna whose garrison are of Raviar origin from Bosnia and Croatia. It also contradicts a report claiming that the Servians had completely routed the fourth, eighth, ninth and thirteenth army corps. It is pointed out at the legation that these troops occupy a totally different position than that assigned them in the report.
